IMPORTANT MATTERS UP FOR ACTION AT SPECIAL TOWN MEETING, JAN. 24

Six articles are included in the warrant for the special town meeting to be held in the Robbins town hall on Monday evening, January 24 at 8 o'clock.

One article if voted would make it easier for the Finance Committee to study town expenditures and make recommendations. It calls for the amending of the By-laws by striking out Section 7 of Article 8 and inserting in its place the following:

"Section 7. The committee shall have the power and authority to consult with such departments, officers, employees, or committees as may have information concerning any matter under consideration, and it shall be the duty of all departments, officers, employees, or committees to furnish such information as they possess or can by diligence acquire that may be required by said committee. It shall also have the power to examine, in connection with any subject under investigation or consideration, all records, books, vouchers, papers and all other instruments in custody or possession of any officer, employee or agent of the Town as far as the same is permitted by law. All boards and officers shall submit to the committee, at the same time that they are submitted to the Town Accountant, copies of their estimates for the ensuing year in budget form."

Another article calls for the appropriation of $15,113 for WPA projects and $8,000 for other projects to provide employment of the poor.

Another appropriation will also be sought for snow and ice removal.

Another article calls for the appropriation of $11,250 as the town's share of the cost of the new River street bridge now under construction.

Because of tentative plans to combine Arlington's celebration of the Constitution Sesquicentennial with the Patriots' Day celebration on April 19, an appropriation for this special observance will be asked under another article.

This special town meeting will be the last before the annual town meeting in March.

SACHEM COUNCIL'S ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD SAT.

One of the features of the Annual Meeting of Sachem Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be held Saturday afternoon and evening at the Hotel Commander, Cambridge, will be the awarding of the Silver Beaver. Each year the National Council, on recommendation of the local Council, gives to some Scouter for Distinguished Service to Boyhood, the Silver Beaver. This award is the second highest honor that can come to a man in Scouting, being topped only by the Silver Buffalo, given for national work for boys.

Just who will be the recipient of the 1937 award is known only to the Beaver Award Committee and the Executive Board of the Council which passes on the recommendation of the committee. But that it will be given to a man who has devoted many years of earnest and efficient work in Scouting is sure.

This year's annual meeting promises to be not only a large one but a joyous one because for the first time in many years, the President of the Council will be able to report that "at long last Sachem Council is out of the red".

The meeting will be held Saturday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon will be held the business meeting of the Council, election of officers and acceptance of various reports. The latter part of the afternoon will be devoted to group meetings, each under the direction of a capable leader and each pertaining to some important activity in Scouting.

While these meetings are being held, the wives and women friends of Scouters—and that includes the mothers of Scouts—will find a delightful entertainment provided for them.

At 6:30 P. M. the annual banquet will be held in the large ball room of the hotel. It is expected that at least 200 Scouters and wives will be present. President Wm. H. Eckert will preside. Besides the Silver Beaver award, a twenty-five year service pin will be given to a Scout whose work in the cause of youth has covered that period of time.

The speaker of the evening will be William H. Bingham, Director of Athletics at Harvard University.

Several other events, some of them of a surprise nature, will serve to enliven the dinner. Of course singing will play a large part and those Scouters who are not up on "Old MacDonald Had a Farm" had better do a bit of rehearsing or they'll be left at the post, and, of course, the younger contingent—and a few of the older ones—who were at Camp Sachem last summer will put on their pet song "Alouette".

Tickets can be obtained at the Scout office, Old Town Hall, Arlington, or of any Scout Commissioner.

Twenty-One New Cases For Welfare Council

In spite of the inclement weather, last Friday, a good attendance of delegates was present at the regular monthly meeting of the Arlington Welfare Council.

The Council agent, Mr. Waite, gave his report of the relief work handled by the Council for the month of December.

In part he reports: "The relief work for the month just finished was as predicted early in the fall, heavier than any month during the year. But what was not foreseen was the fact that December, 1937 was heavier than any month since Federal Aid stepped in to help during the summer of 1933."

He further reported that twenty-one new applications for aid were received and acted on during December.

These are facts of vital interest to Arlington residents, especially to those who are interested in the welfare of their community.

A CORRECTION

Because of the interchange of headlines, a story in last week's NEWS relative to holiday parties held at the First Baptist Church during the holiday season was labelled "Holiday Dance Enjoyed," etc. This headline should have appeared over a story relative to a dance held in another local church. The First Baptist Church Sunday School does not sponsor dances.

There a complete circle was made into the interior of that section.

At the conclusion of the lecture, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held January 24, at the home of Miss Marion Smith, Waverly street.

ARLINGTON COMMUNITY CHEST

The second annual appeal of the Arlington Community Chest opens Monday evening with a big dinner in the Robins Memorial Town Hall.

The success of the plan as outlined for Arlington depends in a large measure on the public appreciation of the needs of this town, upon the public understanding of the value of the program to meet these needs and finally on the cooperation and support of the program and an enlightened self-interest in a stable community.

This plan of joint financing, tested for many years in over four hundred American communities applies sound methods in which the subscriber, agencies and entire community benefits. The subscriber is solicited once a year instead of being approached by many agencies at various times throughout the year. He can support a complete social and welfare program with a single pledge and be assured that he will get full value in planned community service. In this manner the agencies will receive more money for their work, from a greater number of people, raised in a shorter period of time than by any other arrangement.

This plan also relieves the agencies of the time and expense necessary for individual campaigning so that they may devote full time to constructive health, social and welfare service.

Arlington is assured that the funds raised will support a wisely planned program of community service, and that these funds will be intelligently apportioned so that this service will be performed with efficiency and economy.

Arlington thus becomes a united community because of the interest in the Arlington Community Chest and the good work it supports. It also unites citizens on a common ground of human service, enabling them to safeguard still more effectively the health and general welfare of Arlington people.

The directors and workers of this campaign who are contributing their services freely, deserve the highest praise and hearty cooperation of all of our people. Arlington will become a better community, for the responsibility which its citizens accept for the support of this worth-while service, will promote a greater civic responsibility which will be of lasting benefit to all.

A WORTHWHILE PROGRAM

That the very good work of the Arlington Woman's Club, with the cooperation of the school department, in conducting community classes in adult education will not go unrewarded is a certainty. When the first session of these interesting classes was held in the senior high school auditorium last Monday evening, over three hundred people registered.

The opportunity to hear lecturers who can speak with authority on their particular subject is evidently appreciated. The class rooms were in most cases filled to capacity and the pupils included citizens of all ages, young and old as well as rich and poor, all of them eager to acquire knowledge.

These classes will be conducted for six consecutive weeks on Monday and Thursday evenings. The sessions are divided into two one-hour periods. It is not too late to register; anyone can do so on either Monday or Thursday evenings between 7 and 7:30 o'clock at the senior high school. There is a very small charge of fifty cents for the registration card which entitles the holder to attend any or all classes. This small fee goes to pay part of the expenses of conducting such an ambitious program. It is hardly necessary to add that this is not a money-making proposition.

The variety of subjects presented should appeal to every adult in Arlington. Last evening, many heard a most interesting lecture by Professor Floyd E. Armstrong, of M. I. T.; on February 7, Atty. Frank Volpe will discuss "Crime and Criminals". Then there is the series by Atty. Philip Hendrick. These are but a few of the many interesting lectures presented in this series of Adult Education Classes. While the number registered at the first session is high, there are still ample facilities to take care of more people.

B. C. Alumni Chapter Formed In Arlington

The Boston College Club of Arlington was enthusiastically launched at a meeting in the K. of C. rooms, Monday, Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S.J., Faculty Advisor of the Boston College Alumni Association and director of athletics addressed the meeting with a stirring picture of his sincere hopes for the future of the organization.

John C. Gill, Alumni secretary, conducted the meeting which developed lively discussion indicative of the enthusiasm which was held for the undertaking. A committee was formed to draw up tentative by-laws, comprising William Billings, Luke McCarthy, John Mitchell, Lawrence Kiely, John Cronin, Daniel McFadden and Rev. Leo McNamee.

The more than forty members present voted to hold the election of officers on Monday evening, Jan. 17, at 8 p.m. in the K. of C. rooms, 601 Mass. ave., Arlington Center.

ARLINGTON CO-OPERATIVE BANK

HOW TO ACCUMULATE MONEY

Many people find it difficult to accumulate much money through saving. Usually these people have no definite plan for saving. However, when they adopt systematic saving under our plan, they begin to succeed. This plan requires the saving of definite amounts regularly towards Serial Saving Shares. It is this regular saving, plus compound dividends which makes money accumulate in a surprisingly short period of time.

If you have never tried our plan of saving, why put off starting your way to successful saving any longer? Take out one or more shares in our present series and save $1 monthly per share.

Remember, this bank is state chartered, state supervised, and locally managed. It is operated for your benefit—why not enjoy that benefit?

Arlington was busy digging itself out from under the second very heavy snowfall of the year yesterday. A real old-fashioned New England blizzard slowed up traffic. It is estimated that this new storm will cost the town another $10,000.

Stressing the value of newspaper advertising in retail store promotion, Julian J. Burne, advertising manager of Gilchrist company says: "The importance of the newspaper in the modern retail advertising structure cannot be over-emphasized. Despite the fact that many media have come into existence in the past few years, the newspaper continues to remain the most powerful selling force. Its superiority over other advertising media is evidenced in its low cost per reader, its market coverage, quick buying response, fast check on sales results, its flexibility, speed, and reader acceptance."

There will be plenty of orange feathers around Arlington next week. In case you don't know what it's all about, these feathers will be used to advertise the Arlington Community Chest appeal which starts next Monday. Look for the orange feather, the official emblem of the Arlington Community Chest.

From New Brunswick comes word that the Hon. J. B. McNair, attorney-general has answered the challenge of the C. I. O. which has questioned the authority of the Fair Wage Board. Says Hon. Mr. McNair, "It is a challenge to our established institutions. As far as I am concerned the challenge is accepted. Our whole coal industry is threatened." New Brunswick's Evening Times-Globe hailed his stand as one which will meet with the approval of those who are on the side of law and order.

To Appear At Trinity ChurchRadio Ensemble Will Present Program At Trinity Baptist Ch.

The Radio Ensemble of the New England Fellowship will be heard next Sunday evening at Trinity Baptist Church, East Arlington at 7 P.M. This organization has attained a great popularity during the past three years for the excellence of its musical programs and the challenge of its themes.

With rare ability this group weaves a pattern of gospel music and appropriate readings into a message which leaves a lasting impression on the audiences. It includes Paul Tibbett of Los Angeles, violinist; Miss Ethel Dresser of Wheaton, Illinois, pianist; Miss Naomi Crean of New Britain, Conn., soprano; Miss Mary Amstutz of Detroit, Mich., Mezzo-soprano and 'cellist; and Miss Atabell Bosworth of Chicago, Ill., contralto.

This ensemble has been heard over more than 70 radio stations from Maine to California and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. This season it is heard daily over WHDH in Boston.

Tidewater Cypress On Display At Dix Firm

A very comprehensive exhibit of genuine Tidewater Cypress will be presented at the display rooms of the Dix Lumber Company at the North Cambridge address, and the entire public is cordially invited to attend.

The Dix Lumber Company feel that the school children will be especially interested because in this display are a number of pieces of Cypress that has been taken out of buildings as old as three hundred years. There are sections of Cypress water pipe that were taken from New Orleans where they had been in use for 116 years. One thing of especial interest is Cypress shingles that were taken from George Washington's home in Mt. Vernon. This is an educational as well as an interesting exhibit, because few of the general public realize the almost eternal life of Tidewater Cypress.

This display will be open at all times during the day and the Dix Lumber Company will be very glad to make any special arrangements for a visit at night by any group or groups of people.

TO CONDUCT DANCE

The semi-annual dance of the Avon Distributing Co. will be held on Friday evening, January 28, at the Arlington Country Club. Al Costa and his orchestra will play for the dancing. Miss Nicoll To Give Lectures At Boston "Y"

Miss Dorothea Nicoll of 16 Montague st., Arlington Heights, a member of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, will be one of the lecturers in the course, "More For Your Money," of the Boston "Y" Association School, beginning its winter session next week at the Huntington Avenue Y.M.C.A.

The course is under the direction of Mrs. Louise P. Skilton, householder editor for "American Cookery," and will deal with the art of purchasing efficiency as known to experienced buyers. It will be held weekly on Mondays, at 8 p.m. Miss Nicoll's talk on "More Interesting Foods" will be given on January 31.

Fourteen courses of informal education for adults get under way at the Huntington Avenue "Y" in Boston next week. Part of the national movement for adult education, the Association School is planned primarily for those who have recently completed their formal education and are now faced with problems related to their early years of employment and individual advancement. The basic materials for study are not books and homework, but the experiences of those who have learned to live on a high level.

AT THE CAPITOL

Columbia's romantic comedy, "The Awful Truth," starring Irene Dunne and Cary Grant, with Ralph Bellamy, Alexander D'Arcy, Cecil Cunningham and Robert Allen is being shown at the Capitol Theatre. Also in a prominent role is Skippy, the "Thin Man" wire-hair pup, masquerading as Mr. Smith.

"The Awful Truth" tells of the final tiff between "Mrs." Irene Dunne and "Mr." Cary Grant which leads to the divorce courts. There, in what is said to be the most hilarious courtroom scene ever filmed, they battle for the custody of Mr. Smith with Irene the victor. Cary, however, wins the court's permission to visit the dog once a month.

WINCHESTER THEATRE

A new policy of running the feature film ahead of the companion picture became effective at the Winchester Theatre this week. Now through Saturday, the feature showing is "The Perfect Specimen," a popular comedy drama with a great cast of favorites including Errol Flynn, Joan Blondell, Edward Everett Horton, Hugh Herbert, and May Robson. On the same program will be "Danger Patrol," the companion picture, features John Beal, Sally Eilers and Harry Carey.

On Wednesday, Review, the program includes "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," featuring Gary Cooper and Franchot Tone and Will Rogers in "Handy Andy."

Co-starring Greta Garbo for the first time will be the noted French star, Charles Boyer, and directed by David O. Selznick and released by United Artists is announced for its initial Boston screenings at Loew's State and Orpheum theatres beginning today. On the same program will be shown Columbia's stirring drama "Paid to Dance" featuring Jacqueline Logan and Don Terry.

Adapted to the screen by Ben Hecht from an original story by James H. Street, "Nothing Sacred," which is a fast moving, romantic farce, is the first complete color film of New York and combines all of the pictorial values of color plus a great story and brings to the screen a new romantic team in Carole Lombard and Fredric March.

"Paid to Dance," Columbia's dramatic exposé of the dance hall hostess racket, features in its cast Don Terry and Jacqueline Wells.

Prescription for Romance the associate picture features Wendy Barrie and Kent Taylor.
